

K-Club

Sponsored by:

PREHS-SEED Project

How the CDC would, in a perfect world, communicate to the public during a pandemic

Come learn about the importance of audience-specific, clear scientific communication.

Randy Olson, PhD

Randy Olson, PhD is a marine biologist-turned-filmmaker who earned his PhD in Biology and became a tenured professor before changing careers by moving to Hollywood and entering film school. Dr. Olson establishes a model for concise and understandable messaging and communication that includes relevance to scientific communication.

Monday, November 14, 2022

12:00 pm—1:00 pm

Zoom Only—Register Here