

Center for Childhood Infections and Vaccines Annual Symposium

Wednesday, October 19, 2016, 1-7 pm
Health Sciences Research Building
Auditorium & Café

AGENDA

- 1:00 pm: Keynote
*Human Metapneumovirus and T Cell Impairment:
The Pause that Refreshes*
John V. Williams, MD, University of Pittsburgh
- 2:00 pm: Development of polyvalent inactivated rhinovirus vaccine
Sujin Lee, PhD
- 2:20 pm: Pediatric HIV Cure Strategies
Ann Chahroudi, MD, PhD
- 2:40 pm: Innate immune control of Zika virus
Mehul Suthar, PhD
- 3:00 pm: Poster Session, HSRB Café (register by October 12 on www.pedsresearch.org, search “CCIV Symposium”)
- 4:00 pm: *The human immune response to Lassa virus infection:
A case study*
Anita McElroy, MD, PhD
- 4:20 pm: Influenza Vaccination: What Do We Know?
Evan Anderson, MD
- 4:40 pm: Human antibody responses after dengue virus infection are highly cross-reactive to Zika virus
Jens Wrammert, PhD
- 5:00 pm: Keynote
*Development of an Ebola Vaccine:
Unprecedented Pace, Partnership and Public Health Imperative*
Julie Waterbury, PhD, Merck
- 6:00 pm: Reception, HSRB Café

More information found on www.pedsresearch.org, search for “CCIV Symposium”.
Register to present at poster session by October 12, registration also on www.pedsresearch.org